

Training with World #7 Jack Challoner and Dan Clark previous World Round Rider

Training with Current World 7th Champion Jack Challoner

New Zealand has the opportunity to bring Jack Challoner to show us kiwis how it's done in the world championships. Also attending will be Jack's minder Dan Clark who has also competed in the world rounds in the past.

We are looking at having three training weekends starting with one in Tauranga one in Wellington and the last one in Christchurch. Training will be held in November 2013 but dates will be confirmed at a later stage.

Training will be held on a weekend and will run for two days. We are limiting numbers per training to make sure you get your money's worth and to make sure you get one on one with these two top riders. Training will cover all grades and ages.

This is a great opportunity to be able to be trained by a current top ten world trials rider. Both Jack and Dan hold training schools back in the UK and they are always popular.

Training days will be split into two groups and you will then swap over so you all get time with both lads.

Costs:

1st option is $40 per day to participate in a full days training with your own bike.

2nd option is $20 per day to watch only and take it all in.

Training days will only be open to the two options above!

Your training fee will be going towards fundraising for their airfares.

Jack will put on a demo at lunch time so you will get to see up close just how good this lad really is!

This part is up to you guys if you want to make this happen! We are wanting numbers on who would be interested in attending these training weekends at this stage with more info to come.

Please email us directly if you are interested in either options and which area you wish to attend. karlanddebbie@gmail.com or 03 528 7321

Remember because spaces are limited the sooner you contact us the more chance you have on securing a spot on the list.

We have an answer machine so if you want to call during the day just leave us a message with your details.

Regards

Karl and Debbie Clark
